CELEBRATING 150 YEARS

2007 marks new focus on leadership, alumni and philanthropy.

With a clear vision for the future, the Fraternity has set its sights on making Phi Kappa Psi the undisputed leader in undergraduate leadership training and academic excellence. With the recent national success of alumni like Senator Evan Bayh and New York Mayor Michael Bloomberg, Phi Kappa Psi has extended its focus on building the tools for tomorrow's future leaders.

From the highly successful accredited chapter program to the ongoing training in group dynamics, chapters and Universities are reaping the benefits of the commitment of the brotherhood to these important ideals.

Congratulations, you're now an alumnus.

You got the job. Or, you're still looking for it. Graduation isn't the end of your Phi Psi experience...it's the beginning. It's time to start making alumni connections. Joining the chapter board is the first place to start. You relate to the chapter but see the world with a more mature perspective. We need that. And we need you—to help maintain the traditions and systems that make your local chapter successful. Why You? Because you have time, energy and the chapter looks up to you.

Or, if you're smart, join the board and start networking with older donors who might help your career. They've been there and appreciate your commitment and energy. It's also time to start paying back the Fraternity. At just $25 twice a month, you'll be donating $300 a

Your career has taken off. You're starting a family. You've leveraged everything so they don't have to. The two cars and the college list all things your kids need. Hey, we're all here there. Right? But don't let your Fraternity knowledge disappear. Get a full year for Founders Day. Give your kids your old (but on the Fraternity board). Continue your $25 a month gift to Phi Psi (the car for the anniversary). Your company might even match it. Invest in your relationships in a few years you'll discover that you need them.

What does it all mean? As you reflect on life, you understand what the Fraternity did for you. You have had a fraternity brother or several who were there when you needed them most. These important relationships are precious, and you now have the means to ensure that Phi Kappa Psi will continue its mission. You only understand the value of the Fraternity. You need to share what you've learned with the young men of the future—leaving all of us a lasting memorial in your legacy.
